

In order to maintain the business growth preserving the environment and the safety of our employees, Freudenberg Não Tecidos Ltda. (Filtration Technologies), dedicated to the design, development, production and commercialization of automotive filters, industrial filters and filtration and ventilation systems, is committed to:

- Offer products and services that meet all customer requirements, legal regulations and the Freudenberg Group standards for health, safety and the environment.
- Occupy and maintain a leading position in the market being one of the best suppliers in development, innovation and quality.
- Continuously improve our production processes and the products offered to the market.
- Ensure the continuous reduction of the impact of the company's activities on the environment.
- Ensure safe work, avoid accidents and any damage to the health of our employees.
- Employ properly trained employees who will be required to commit to our goals and commitments.

Freudenberg adopts the following activities to achieve its objectives:

- With the support of top management, it establish and maintain an integrated management system.
- Continuously control and improve processes that affect quality, safety and the environment.
- Develop prevention measures in all its activities.
- Remain updated in the knowledge and application of the legislation that governs their activities.
- Establish goals and targets to minimize waste generation by making better use of available resources.
- Identify and evaluate risks in the workplace, controlling them, minimizing them and, if possible, eliminating them.
- Through training and communication, they keep their employees qualified and committed to the company's goals and commitments.